

WE NOMINATE

Bani Knight Shorter, diminutive 38-year old mother of two and a gifted teacher-writer, whose drive, ability and understanding are making it possible for some 300 Princeton youngsters to participate in a 10-week "Asian Summer" which seeks to lift the "iron curtain of ignorance" separating Americans from vast and vitally important, non-Western regions and peoples. By summer's end it is entirely conceivable that these junior Princetonians, benefiting from the Public Library's initiative and facilities and enrolled in the Playground Program, will know infinitely more about the Near, Middle and Far East than the majority of their elders — and even their older sisters and brothers.

The "Shorter approach" to Asia, rooted in nearly two decades of intensive study and some five years of residence and research in India and Pakistan, is a direct one that combines community leadership resources with thoughtfully projected Library programming. Consequently, 13 skilled storytellers, each a specialist in his area and including a 72-year old volunteer commuter from New Hope, Pa., make the rounds of nine playgrounds, one talking about Iran, another about China and so on. They are supported by Library exhibitions, special events and a continuing series of Open Houses, featuring such guests as Pearl Buck and to which adults are invited, "if accompanied by a child."

Mrs. Shorter, a native of Westport, Maine, and a "history major" with the Class of 1944 at Colby College (Waterville, Maine), became acutely aware of the "world around us" during her graduate studies at Haverford College and some 30 months with the American Friends Service Committee. Married in 1945 to an able Princeton University economist largely concerned with the under-developed nations, she and her husband have completed three tours of duty in the Far East. While Professor Shorter was pondering the India-Pakistan Partition, Mrs. Shorter — whose Indian name, Bani, bears small resemblance to her christened Bernice and her nickname, Bunny — was completing her readable "India's Children."

The mother of 10-year old Rangit in the Littlebrook School and 13-year old Shephali in the Valley Road School, the former a member of the Library's 11-member Asian Committee, Mrs. Shorter first sought to acquaint American students with the Far East in the University Elementary School of the University of California at Los Angeles. There, as a demonstration teacher and supervisor of potential secondary school teachers, she guided a pilot study of India and developed teaching materials that were to form the basis of the pioneering reading list, "Books on Asia for Children," she compiled a year ago for The Asia Society.

In a manner reminiscent of many great American educators, who look upon teaching as a continuing, dynamic force rather than as a transitory experience, Mrs. Shorter envisions a hard core of Princeton "Library Helpers." In her initial proposal to Librarian Margaretta Barr, she suggested that "we may be able to build up a small group who would like to meet with us from time to time and to help make this program live for others." One of her proteges strengthened her hope in stating recently, upon finishing a new book: "I always thought that Indians were just Indians, but now I know they are people."

For helping lift Princeton's sights in a period when too many Americans seem strangely reluctant to look beyond the Western World; for giving a new sense of purpose to an area-wide recreational program; for dramatizing the Library's capacities for service to Princetonians of all ages; she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

WEATHER REPORT: BAD
No Rain in Sight. The drought that began June 24 and has been marked by a scant .03 inches of rain in the last 25 days has only a parched future. Science Associates, Princeton-based weather-forecasting firm, reports that "no precipitation is in sight before Saturday and the chance of widely scattered showers over the weekend is only 50-50."

Adding to the frustration of the property-owner and gardener is the growing hardship of farmers throughout the Garden State as the U.S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast for the next 30 days: "Sub-normal precipitation throughout the northeastern section of the nation."

Already, eight of New Jersey's 21 counties have been declared disaster areas by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, acting in Washington upon an appeal from Governor Hughes to President Kennedy. Three are in the southern portion of the state; five others to the north, with neighboring Hunterdon the nearest.

In Mercer, the situation is still well short of becoming critical, and the only area really hard hit, according to County Agricultural Agent Richard Lippincott, is Hopewell Township. There, the pasture areas of dairy farmers are being fed with winter supplies of hay.

Dry Statistics. Above average precipitation in June largely atoned for a brief drought in May, but the last rainfall last month was on June 24, when 15 inches fell. Thereafter, the Stony Brook Pumping Station of the Princeton Water Company clocked off 19 consecutive days without measurable rainfall. Saturday brought raindrops over a period of several hours, but they were so characterless that their residue came to an almost 63 inches.

During the week ending Saturday, the Water Company reported daily consumption averaged 3.4 million gallons—more than a third above normal. With a return to the community-wide sprinkling schedule now in effect, water use has decreased to 2.6 million gallons per day—an outflow that is considered satisfactory.

To alleviate the drain on its artesian wells, the Water Company has been taking about a million gallons a day from the Delaware and Raritan Canal. This operation was made possible by a filtering process used for the first time last October.

Company officials report that the supply is "being watched closely." The present drought—currently the most severe since 1957 and patently set to exceed others more serious—can be broken only by a steady rain lasting the better part of two days. Weather forecasters agree, but add that none is in sight.

The sprinkling schedule (which police will enforce at the Water Company's request): Monday and Thursday—odd numbered houses.

Tuesday and Friday—even numbered houses.

Wednesday and Sunday—unnumbered country houses. Churches, schools and other institutions should call the company for a time assignment.

"CAN'T WIN" RULING
Drafted For Dog Control. "We probably won't satisfy anyone," said Township Committeeman William L. Wilson on Monday night as he introduced a revised dog ordinance. He added that even "the present judgment of the Committee is not unanimous."

The Committee struck its biggest snag in the submission of allowing dogs to roam on public streets. "However," Mr. Wilson said, "a majority of the Committee . . . have the opinion that the granting of this measure of freedom to dogs and of responsibility to their owners should be given a trial."

No Community Rights. The proposed ordinance says in the preamble: "We believe that dogs, off the property of their owners, have no community rights — only privileges that the community and owners of private property can afford them or can withhold. . . . We believe the municipality should assume the responsibility and take all reasonable steps to reduce these objectionable occurrences to a minimum."

Item number one of the proposed ordinance provides for a dog control officer and authorized the officer and the police to pick up any dog that "habitually barks, chases vehicles or injures the property of others than its owners; endangers persons or property; or bites or molests persons." The owner of the offending dog would be subjected to the expense of recovering his dog and to possible legal penalties.

"No Dogs Allowed." Under the ordinance, it would be unlawful for a dog to be on private property against the will of the property owner. No dogs would be allowed on school property or in public park and recreation areas "except in accordance with regulations that the supervising public authorities may adopt or on any public property except streets and highways."

Dogs may run at will on their owners' property or on any other private property if the owner of the property raises no objection. They may run freely about the community if under the control of a . . . Continued on Page 2 responsible person. Leashing is not required. And they can run on public streets and highways.

Now Just a Minute. Committee member John S. Mount took issue with Bob, Son of Battle. "Why should we ignore the advice of the Township staff? All of them are against allowing the dogs to roam. The administrative officer, the chief of police, the health officer and the superintendent of schools have all given public testimony against this."

"What about the protection of children going to and from school? And there are elements of discrimination here. Some responsible dog owners will fence in their property and the less responsible ones will let their dogs run on the streets. What's more, this ordinance ignores preventative action."

"I think this Committee has ignored the true function of a governing body. It is our duty to create legislation that will solve the problem, not to come in with some kind of solution that makes everybody happy. This ordinance is an in-between solution."

Mr. Mount commented that "unethical pressures" had been placed on the Committee since the last discussion of a revised dog ordinance. Committee member Thomas F. Cook said, "Just one thing I would like to mention: Even total restraint is not going to solve all of our problems. In Lawrence Township they have had total restraint for two years but still they have about 60 dog bites a year."

Mr. Cook then moved that the drafted dog control ordinance be formally presented for hearing. Mayor Fairman designated the Valley Road School as the place and asked administrator Joseph Nini to find an open date early in September.

Catchers and Shelters. Mr. Cook commented that the Committee had held two hearings on a dog ordinance so far and suggested that the Township start looking for a dog control officer immediately, rather than wait for the ordinance to be passed.

Mr. Mount interposed that dog shelter should be given priority. "If an officer picks up an increased number of dogs, where's he going to put them?"

Mayor Fairman said that he plans to discuss the matter of dog shelters with the Borough. Mr. Mount added that the Borough Council has discussed this and reported to us that they'd be willing to go along with us in the dog officer matter. The Committee then voted unanimously to authorize Gordon Griffin, attorney for the Township and Borough, to draft an ordinance authorizing the new position of Township dog control officer.

LOVERS LANE BAN. Township Vetoes Parking. The shadow of Elder Brewster fell on Princeton's Lovers Lane this week. The Township Committee has forbidden parking on the historic street.

The reasons given were not among those dreamed of by the crusty ruler of the Massachusetts Puritans, who divided the saints and sinners with a clear black line.

The Township fathers

couched their ruling in Twentieth Century language. Lovers Lane, two or three two-way street, they said, and there is no room for parked cars. They had the backing of the Traffic Safety Committee.

Baseball, not morals, caused it, they said. The midweek league games at Marquand Park—which fronts on Lovers Lane—brought too many cars to the parking lot lined with Lovers Lane automobiles and traffic was hazardous.

Robert Sorell, 29, Lovers Lane, told the Committee, "I think this is a wise ordinance." He drew their attention to the fact that the street currently has no street sign. "The students keep stealing them."

Footnote: Lovers Lane, formerly called "Lovely Lane," is one of the border streets between Borough and Township. It runs between Stockton and Mercer streets.

On the old maps, the dividing line runs down the middle of the Lane. The township has accepted the job of policing the street, and plans to consult with the Borough as to additional parking arrangements at Marquand Park.

GUEST HOUSE PLANNED

By Seminary. Princeton Theological Seminary will apply for zoning variances on July 26 to permit the use of Symington House, 12 Library Place, as a guest house for lecturers and visitors to the Seminary.

The Seminary has announced plans to purchase the house, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walker W. Stevenson, Jr. It is on the west side of Library Place opposite Speer Memorial Library.

The house adjoins the site of the Seminary residence, razed last summer, long occupied by the late Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Erdman. The Seminary proposed to build faculty housing units on the site but due plans ran into opposition from area residents. The new plans will be submitted to the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment.

At the same meeting, Princeton University will apply for permission to construct a parking lot in the interior of the block bounded by Edwards Place, University Place and Dickinson Street.

The area is behind a row of university-owned faculty houses on the south side of Edwards Place. The lot would be used by the occupants of adjoining university-owned houses and possibly members of the university staff and visitors.

Person to Person

The other day, a Navy friend gave us some back ground about submarines that we thought you'd find interesting. It seems Cory S. Kammiller, who in 1855 in Russia, a Baravian inventor named Wilhelm Bauer, took three musicians under the waters of Kronstadt Harbor in a submarine he had built, and he had them play appropriate music for the coronation of Emperor Alexander II of Russia, which was taking place nearby. Bauer succeeded in giving the coronation its most musical touch, because the music seemed to come from nowhere, was clearly heard throughout the coronation ceremonies. In 1855 who could have guessed that the music was coming from beneath the water of the harbor? Apparently the skin of the submarine was thin enough to allow sound vibrations to transmit through the shell and then through the water to reach quite clearly the ears of the throngs at the coronation. In so many things it is the "unusual," the "something more," which makes the big difference between ordinary and extraordinary. Frequently it is an unseen "something" that you feel only in the better results you get. That is why we always try to give you "something more" for your maximum satisfaction and economy. We're Moving To Princeton!

Dear Princeton,

It is inevitable that Viking Furniture would be more than moderately interested in design from Scandinavia. Scandinavian design stands out like a bright beacon in a gray room. The hand of the artist is present in everything, from the humblest pot holder to serious possessions of timeless value. Since we at Viking believe that every moment and every movement should be endowed with significance and beauty, we have devoted our entire stock to things from Scandinavia.

Just a word to let you know that Viking Furniture is moving to Princeton. 250 Nassau Street will be our new address. (Watch TOWN TOPICS for opening.) The demand for fine Scandinavian furniture has been overwhelming.

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for making this possible, for without your patronage this move would not have been possible.

ALL OF THE FURNITURE IN THE ROUTE 33 STORE WILL BE REDUCED 30%! Dux, Tanier, Royal and Lunning are just a few of the manufacturers that will be represented at 30% off.

TEMPERS FRAY
And School Gets Bull
Home-stretch tensions are paying off at Community Park School. The new building for primary grades will be the first post-war school structure in the Township to be completed by the opening of the fall term.

It hasn't been easy. Leonard
M. Hymerling told the school board. As chairman of the board's construction committee, he has stepped up the "job meetings" with the general contractor, Kehoe-Downes & Inc., of Princeton, and the sub-contractors from monthly to bi-weekly.

Prodding, hassling and haggling with the general contractor have left Mr. Hymer-ling a bit grim. "I've been in the contracting business since 1934 and I draw a hard hargane myself, but I've never lost my patience as I have at the last two meetings with that man. If I ever see his name on another bid I'm not going to have anything to do with it."

However, the donkeybrooks have caused Mr. Hymerling to point out progress in his overture way.

"By the first of August, the first and second floors will be livable except for blackboards. Delivery of chairs and desks could begin this Monday. Library will be finished by the middle of this week.

"Caterina is the most expedient job I've ever seen it's ready. So is the auditorium except for a final coat of paint and the flooring. The gym floor will have the tile put in about the middle of next week.
By the end of the first week in August everything will be complete inside. Remainder of the building should be finished about August 15."

A Question of Two Percent.
The nut of the most recent no-round between the School Board and Kehoe-Downes is the two percent of the building cost retained by the School Board until Community Park has been in use one full year.
The two percent amounts to $5,500. Kehoe-Downes requests that this part of the contract be dropped left Mr. Hymerling expanding. The general contractor offered to take out another performance bond with the bonding company to cover the $9,500.

"It ought to be double," Mr.
Hymerling said, "if we let him get away with it."

"The best way to get the performance is to hold the money," said A. Robert Trudel.

Questioned as to contract deadlines and clauses, Mr. Hy-merling said that the deadline for completion had been extended from June 27 to July 1 to August 15.

The contractor, he said, brought his attorney to the last job meeting and they claimed December 1 was the deadline. They argued that delays caused by strikes, weather and the architect had put the building back by five months

"Kehoe offers to put on extra men and extra time if we waive the two percent clause.
I've been begging him to put an extra man for months," said Mr. Hymerling, rubbing his banning hair.

He went on, "I want all that heavy machinery out of this contract, whereby Kehoe-Downes, Inc. may substitute a performance bond for the two percent, providing the building is certified complete by the architect as of August 15.
The amount of the bond is to be $19,000."

TOWNSHIP BUYS A BUS
"Built Like a Tank." The Township School Board has invested $5,715.96 in its first school bus. Currently the Board rents buses for about ten routes at $3,600 a route.
Mrs. Dorothy E. Schoch, a mother of three, who headed the bus committee appointed by the school board, reported that the new bus "is reinforced top and bottom, and there is a safety band around the sides so that the bus won't telescope."

"Darn thing's built like a tank," added Dr. John J. Mc-Kenna, superintendent of schools.

Under Title 18, Dr. McKenna explained, the state reimburses schools up to 75 percent of the cost of transporting pupils who live two or more miles from school.

The new bus, which will take care of the kindergarten run and short excursions, will be driven by members of the janitorial staff. Seventy-five percent of the cost of their time spent driving will also be reimbursed by the state.

Mrs. Schoch and Dr. McKenna told the Board that the bus would replace $7,500 worth of contracts in one year. The Volkswagen Board now owns will be used to transport exceptional children next year.
The Volks has already paid for itself," Dr. McKenna noted.

The School Board's request for bids covering a 38-childen bus drew response from Nassau Motors, Turney Motors, Willis Motors, Westbrook Motors, International Harvester and Veit Motors. The Pauls-

From Richard Pearson, "The present Township School Board did not seriously consider covering the sending-relationship with the Borough at

Richard Pearson told Mrs. Sa-said, "On April 19, 1962, the Township Board of Education approved a letter written by Richard Pearson, Chairman of the Township Board, to the Borough Board, stating firmly that the Township Board could not commit future Township students to the Borough high school unless they knew three things: 1. what would be done to take care of increased future Township enrollment; 2. what curriculum changes, if any, were contemplated; 3. what would be done to meet the absolute necessity for some form of legal representation of the Township on the Borough Board of Education. On June 21, 1962, the Township Board resolved unanimously to extend the sending district relationship with the high school until 1970 (five years, to be sure, not the requested ten) but they did so without even repeating, much less insisting upon the three demands of Mr. Pearson's letter of April 19."

Agreement Extended. "This is not the case," replied Mr. Pearson. "In the absence of

—WATER BOY

Sunday was St. Swithin's Day, with rain then presumed to bring 40 days more. It precipitated briefly on Saturday and even more vaguely on Monday, but on Sunday, not at all. One day of rain, let alone 40, would be a big help in this drought-plagued land. None is to be had, the Man Reported will set in, but nothing unduly unpleasant. And, he repeated, no rain.

definitive answers to the questions posed in the April letter, the Township Board acted in June to the request of the Borough for an extension of the agreement for only five years.

"The citizens of the Township," he went on, "and their Board of Education will need to consider during the next few years, the issues identified in the April letters. The present Board is already taking steps to bring these issues before the public, so that there can be full and deliberate consideration of them well before the question of renewing the sending-receiving relationship arises again before 1970." Mr. Pearson added that the Borough Board of Education has taken effective steps to strengthen "an already strong program" at the high school.

THREE MEN ARRESTED In Township Lottery Raid.

A seven-man raiding party, headed by Township Chief of Police James B. Campbell, Jr., caught three men allegedly exchanging money and numbers gambling slips Thursday afternoon in the northeast corner of the Bamberger's Department Store parking lot, Princeton Shopping Center. Arrested were Walter Thomas, Jr., 27, New Brunswick; John O. Broadway, 27, 12 Birch Avenue; and Anthony Forconi, 57, 102 Harmony Avenue, Lawrence Township. Police said the trio was apprehended as Thomas and Broadway tried to pass money and numbers slips to Forconi, who, in turn, was returning the previous day's "hits." A total of $172.40 was confiscated by the police, they reported.

Others in the raiding party, in boys and nine girls, were harn addition to Chief Campbell, were Detective Fred Porter, Sgt. Michael Lisi and Patrolmen Howard Sweeney, Michael Kapliner and John Hammond. The suspects had been under close surveillance for about a week, Chief Campbell reported. The three were arraigned by Township Magistrate James S. Hill the same day and released on $2500 bail each to await action by a Mercer County grand jury. They were charged with possession of lottery slips and money pertaining to the lottery game.

News Of The THEATRES

PLAYBILL CHANGE
"Arms and the Man" Next. In a last minute switch-over which baffled even the publicity man, the Princeton Players have cancelled "The Rehearsal" and substituted George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," which opens next Tuesday.

The CBS comedy will star Eric Berne, who appears in the current offering "Tonight We Improvise" by Pirandello. Mr. Berne made his stage debut in the Broadway production of "Inherit the Wind" and has appeared in various television shows. Other players will be Lynn Milgrim and Don Marshall, both of whom have taken leading roles in recent Players' productions.

"Arms and the Man" is one of Shaw's earliest plays. It pokes fun at such institutions as war, romantic love and the nouveau riche. Miss Milgrim plays the part of a young girl who rejects her heroic soldier-lover in favor of a cynical Swiss hotelkeeper.

Curtain time at the Players' theatre, 259 Nassau Street, is 8:30 p.m.; tickets are $2 and $2.25.

NEW COMEDY OFFERED
By Bucks County Playhouse. "When The Beer Goes National," a new comedy by John Fritz, will open Monday at Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. Starring Paul McGrath and Frances Reid, the play will run through August 6.

The comedy, destined for Broadway, will have its world premiere at the Playhouse. The title of the play refers to the efforts of a man to convince the brewer of a midwestern beer to market it on a national basis. The author is a native of Illinois and has used the locale of his home state for his first play. Currently at the Playhouse through Saturday is "The Miracle Worker."

The Peppermint Players will present two performances of their musical version of "Jack and the Beanstalk" at the Playhouse on Tuesday. Shows will be at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. An award winning children's show, The Peppermint Players are an adult professional repertory company organized by Paul Libbin. Mr. Libbin, who Seminary Seeks Guest House.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Public notice has been given that Princeton Theological Seminary has applied to the Zoning Board of Adjustment of the Borough of Princeton for a special permit that will enable the Seminary to establish and maintain a Guest House at 12 Library Place, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walker Stevenson, Jr.

This property is opposite the Robert E. Speer Library and is ideally situated for the Seminary's program. At the present time the increased enrollment of the Seminary has placed a heavy burden on existing facilities, and there is no other adequate space available for a Guest House.

Ministers and laymen who come for seminars in a program of continuing education would sojourn in the Guest House, as would visiting lecturers and leaders in the Ecumenical Movement who meet on the Seminary campus. The proposed Guest House is in many ways connected with other plans the Seminary has for 20 Library Place, the site of the home long granted by Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Erdman and their family. The two plans are separate and distinct.

For 150 years Princeton Seminary has been a member of this community. It cherishes the deep roots which it has in Princeton and its historic ties with the Princeton community and with the other academic institutions located in Princeton. It is our high hope that the addition of these guest facilities will serve, as Allison House at 83 Stockton Street serves Princeton University, to bring outstanding scholars and leaders to Princeton and through them to enrich the intellectual, cultural and spiritual life of this community.

Walter Pidgeon puts in an excellent performance as the straight-forward majority leader. Others equally effective Franchot Tone as the dying, Low Ayres as the hesitant, vice-president and Don Murray as the black-dressed senator. Gene Tierney plays the role of Washington and "friend" of Pidgeon, her welcome return to the screen. Comment: interesting interpretation of Allen Drury's novel.

support by comedian Red Buttons and the musical score by Henry Mancini.

The story takes place at the Momella Game Farm, outside near the town of Arusha, Tanganyika. It is a game headquarters run by men who capture wild animals for zoos and circuses. Wayne, as Sean Mercer, is head of the hunters. Buttons plays "Pockets", a former New York cab driver with a great sense of humor. Hardy Kruger is a former racing driver who chases herds of wild animals in a jeep, and Elsa Martinelli adds romance as the beautiful photographer sent to the farm on assignment. There are fantastic action scenes taken on safaris and several incidents of upstart comedy. Comment: adventure laced with laughs.

THE GARDEN

El Cid (July 18-31) is a super spectacle. It interprets the story of the Cid, famed warrior of Eleventh Century Spain. The photography is magnificent.

Charles Heston portrays the stalwart hero in his usual grand style, this time highlighted by a poignant love theme involving beautiful Sophia Loren. There are several exciting battle scenes between the Moors and the Spanish. But the color camera work is most impressive, in many instances giving the feeling of witnessing the unfolding of a series of beautiful paintings by old masters. Comment: beautiful escapism.

PRINCE

The Notorious Landlady (July 18-24) Kim Novak, Jack Lemmon and Fred Astaire carry on a spoof of suspense thriller. Lemmon, as a newly-appointed official of the American Embassy in London seeks to rent a flat from Miss Novak, a transplanted American. Smitten with love at first sight, he overcomes her objections to a single man as a tenant, and moves in. Then he learns from his superior at the Embassy, Astaire, that Miss Novak is suspected of having done away with her husband. An ingenious and suspenseful parody of Alfred Hitchcock's chills follows. There are many delightful comedy moments. The only regretful thing is that Fred Astaire doesn't dance. Don't ask me! Comment: Letterman on the farcical team.

GETTING MARRIED?
Allen's Will Help. Immediately following the selection of a groom, the first thing a girl does is to sit down with pad and pencil and decide on wedding dress and how the church is going to look. Often this exercise precedes the selection of a groom, but this takes us into realms of sociology beyond the scope of the present manuscript.

Planning ahead can be done easily and with effective results by working in partnership with Allen's Flowers, of Hopewell. Mr. Allen is equipped by talent, temperament and experience to work out the complete design of a wedding, within whatever budget you give him, and he is available at his Broad Street shop to confer with you on all the details.

Mr. Allen, as we said, likes to work ahead, with plenty of time to plan, and he suggests that you get in touch with him as soon as you have decided on the colors you and your attendants will wear. (Some of Mr. Allen's customers have booked his services six months ahead. He does not take on more weddings than he can easily handle on a given day, so you should not delay in making your first Broad Street visit.)

Working from our own wedding dress and the dresses you have chosen for bridesmaids, Mr. Allen will suggest bouquets and show you sketches. For example, he will design a nosegay, flower basket or informal cascade for a short ballroom dress, and a formal grouping of orchids, lilacs of the valley or stephanotis for a long dress with a church train.

If a gown is elaborate and detailed with appliques, seed pearls and embroidery, he will suggest a simple flower like a gardenia, but if the dress itself is unadorned, he will design an intricate bouquet with as much detailing as fine embroidery.

Mr. Allen, by the way, is a firm man. He will not produce such things as purple bouquets for green dresses, shall we say, nor will he dye flowers to match the whimsy of a bride who likes blue roses. Tactful, you understand, but firm.

He makes the bride's bouquet himself, turning the attendants' bouquets over to members of his staff.

Familiar by now with most of the churches in the area, Mr. Allen will show the bride a floor-plan of her church and suggest the placement of palms, large floral pieces and so on. An elaborate church needs very little, a simple country church may need quite a bit to give it the proper air for a large wedding.

Make Mine Raspberry

One of the most successful dresses on the Bellows' rack at the moment is a textured silk sheath that comes in more colors than there are silk-worms.

The dress itself is that good old word "basic," cut with round neck, no sleeves and a waist marked by a double stranded round sash.

You may have it in a delectable pale pink, an ex-troverted raspberry, turquoise as blazing as the desert sky, all for $28 or in black, coffee-bean brown and a stormy ocean blue for $26. There is, of course, no alternative cut to have one of each. How's a girl to decide!

Budgets and tastes vary so widely that it is impossible to say how much the floral part of a wedding may cost. Mr. Allen's rough rule is to divide a budget 50-50 between the wedding party and the church decoration. This formula applies to a good-sized wedding with quite a bouquet of bridesmaids and a moderately large church to decorate.

For your appointment, call HOpewell 6-0062.

ARE YOU PACKABLE?

Bellows is. Banton shifts in prints or solids will pack into anything larger than a wallet, can be washed, and will never show a wrinkle. Bellows has them hanging straight from the hanger and waiting for the wearer to give them shape and line. There are prooping things to hold in the waist.

One is a brown-black tan offset geometric print that is the most practical garment you will take anywhere. Another is black with four-inch flame red zinnias. ($25). Others are solid black, brown or pink, cut with three-quarter sleeves that are almost seven-eighths.

Silk knits, which look much the same except for their luminous suppleness, come in things like oversized parsley or a regal combination of raspberry pink, royal blue and lemon. You don't wash these by the way.

Ensembles for late summer and early fall are beginning to appear in the Bellows' stock. One boat-neck dress has a skirt of cluster pleats falling from a flat, cummerbund midriff and a three-button jacket with lapel collar. The fabric is a steel blue with tan crossplaiding.

State Highway 69 Pennington 7-1210

Dear Princeton:

Paris is fantastic! Thursday, July 5 was our first day there. That morning we saw "The Windmill Victory," "Venus de Milo" and the "Mona Lisa," not to mention countless other masterpieces, all housed in the magnificent Louvre. After lunch, we went sight-seeing on the Bateau Mouché (a boat) down the Seine.

We had very beautiful views of Notre Dame, the Eiffel Tower, one of the models for the original Statue of Liberty, and the banks of the Seine itself, as well as many other parts of Paris. In the late afternoon, we gave a concert for a small group of people at UNESCO. After a quick dinner at the cafeteria in the building, we boarded the buses again to go to the Grand Opera.

We saw "Swan Lake." As to be expected on a tour, our seats were in the top balcony, but the ballet was beautiful.

On Saturday morning, the tour of Malmaison and the inside of Versailles were eliminated so that we could sleep late and give a better performance at Fontainebleau that evening. After a brief visit to the gardens of Versailles, most of the afternoon was spent in traveling the 70 kms to Fontainebleau.

Our concert went well. Nadia Boulanger, at whose personal invitation we had sung, seemed pleased. We were received afterwards in two of her private chambers, and she kindly greeted each of the choir members as they entered.

Miss Boulanger mingled freely with her guests. She said she was sorry there were not enough chairs for everyone but invited us to make ourselves at home and sit on the floor. We had all fallen in love with her by the time we left.

The soloists and Mr. and Mrs. Hilbish stayed to dine with her. The rest of us moved to a nearby Army base for our first American meal—hamburgers, French fries and real American cokes! Delicious!

Next day our schedule was trimmed down again, and all morning sight-seeing eliminated in order that we might sleep late. In the afternoon, we drove to the historic Abbey of Royaumont.

We sang in an old stone room with columns and vaulted ceiling. There could not have been a more perfect setting for the Stravinsky than this old chamber. The Choir, in their long dark blue saint-like robes were dressed most appropriately. Some of the tourists who saw us wandering around through the halls seemed to mistake us for nuns and monks! Both the Choir and the audience left under a kind of enchantment.

Monday, July 9, was our last day in Paris. At 9 the buses drove us to the Place de l'Opera and left us for three days of independent activities. At 12 we met again and set off for Le Bourget Airport to take our plane for London.

We arrived at the London Airport at 3, visited Hampton Court, and reached our dormitories by 7:15. The next morning, we had scrambled eggs, toast and cereal for breakfast. What a change!

We spent the morning touring Westminster Hall, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament and a Buckingham Palace. The weather was poor so we missed the "Changing of the Guard." Some of us slipped in the rain to see the Procession of Queen Elizabeth and the King of Liberia. This was a grand affair—flags of both countries lined the streets, none which they drove Late that afternoon, we gave our last concert—at the Royal College of Music. Before we sang, we met downstairs and Mr. Hilbish gave us a farewell speech.

To open our concert we sang the British and American national anthems. All of us were stirred by our own "Star Spangled Banner." We held up pretty well through the Weavers and the first of the Bach, but by the last chorus of the JOURNEY'S END: The last of five letters by Linda Almgren on the Princeton High School Choir's European tour is published this week.

Bach we began to weaken. By the final "Amen," there were tears in the eyes of many of us. Downstairs after the concert, we really let go. As for the last time, we took off our blue robes which by now were such familiar apparel.

On Wednesday, we had our final long day of sight-seeing: St. Paul's, The Inns of Court, the Tower of London and the National Gallery in the morning. In the afternoon, the British Museum: in the evening an enjoyable production of the Yeomen of the Guard given in the moat of the Tower of London.

On Thursday, July 12, we left London, passed the Windsor Castle, and by 3:30 were at the London Airport. We had a short flight of about an hour to Amsterdam where we were to board a DC 8 to bring us back to the States.

We were no sooner on the plane than we were told to disembark. There was a delay of an hour and 25 minutes due to engine trouble! We were anxious because of the delay, but welcomed the time to do some last minute shopping. At 7:20 we finally got off the ground and headed home.

At 8 we set our watches back in 3 p.m. and gained five hours of daylight. We made up one hour of the delay en route and arrived at Idlewild by 10 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

As we left the plane, we heard wild applause and cheers! There on the observation deck of the airport was a huge crowd of parents and friends. We returned the cheers with much enthusiasm, and gave vent to all the excitement that had been building up with the anticipation of coming back home.

A large white banner was unfurled with the words WELCOME HOME, PRINCETON HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR in big letters. What a thrill!

All of us appreciated this reception, and Mr. and Mrs. Hilbish seemed especially touched. We rushed forward to

HOW ARE YOU
FIXED FOR TIRES?

Summer time when the traveling is easy
and the roads more crowded, you and your family need greater tire safety.

Our Autos Bucron Tires

- are safer on stops
- give softer ride
- have deeper tread
- and no squeal on turns.

Safety Tip
Have good tread. See that tires are inflated with right pressure for car load, length of trip, road conditions. Remember the price of a tire is cheap compared to the cost of an accident.

Dear Princeton:

go through Customs.

About half the Choir was met at the airport. The rest of us rode to Princeton in buses. There, another welcome, just as warm, greeted us.

We ran into the arms of our parents and friends, and even before we had caught our breath, and said how glad we were to be home, the questions began to fly. "Did you have a nice trip?" "Tell me, what was the trip?" "Tell me, what do you think of Berlin?" "How was your family in Holland?" Even now, the questions have not all been answered, and probably never will be.

What a trip we did have! We have made more friends, seen more beautiful—and terrible—sights and had more sheer adventure in the last four weeks, than ever before in our lives. But for the Choir, I think, even more wonderful than all these things, have been the moments when we sang as a perfect whole, when we were suddenly inspired by music we had sung a hundred times before, when we went beyond just intonation and melody lines and technical perfection to create something beautiful, and to translate this beauty to other people, no matter in what language they spoke. This was more exciting than all the Eiffel Towers, Berlin Walls and the whole range of Alps.

In conclusion—and speaking for the whole Choir—I want to express our appreciation to many people. To the chaperones, who were so patient. To Mr. Hilbisch, who had the vision to conceive this trip and laid the groundwork many months before for the series of concerts and the support of the State Department.

To all the schools, churches, stores, institutions, organizations and individuals, through whose contributions of money, time and effort, it became a reality. And to our own Mr. Stroup, who did such a superb job of pulling all the loose ends together. We sincerely thank each and every one of you for the opportunity you gave to make this wonderful trip. We tried to represent you well.

It's New To Us

A dark Glen plaid has been used for a daron and cotton dress with short sleeves, bow at patent belt and a single button jacket with three-quarter

Textured silk and cotton displays four buttons, coachman style, with a flat front bow and short sleeves. A dark brown jacket, innocent of buttons, tops a one-piece dress cut with a straight skirt and a bodice made of V-stripes of dark orange, gold and black, and we can see you wearing it every cool fall day.

Two of those black basic cottons in the $20-25 price range will slip into your wardrobe as easily as they slip over your shoulders. One has peats that break at the knee and two knot buttons on the left shoulder. Comes in royal or red, too. The other has two lines of parallel white stitching around the hipline, accenting a white stitched cash above. It's sleeveless with a round neck and a slightly A-flared skirt. Comes also in green, royal, teal, red or beige.

Cisa sends from Italy a pussy grey knit ensemble whose jacket is deeply curved up to the single button closing. The sleeveless overblouse with front waist bow is pale pink, and there is a pale pink facing along the jacket edge, though the jacket itself is lined with silk. $150.

Kimberly's Chanel jacket has a double row of brass buttons against the forthright red. Skirt is red, too. A wool wide die collar: eruptions from the square little jacket of a red ensemble, less than in a double row of brass buttons.

For your favorite cocktail dress, Bellows suggests a champagne knit with a four-inch Empire peplum of champagne satin going all the way around to the back and a shoestring bow. The same satin pips the cap sleeves.

Juniors will wear a black silk crepe with inverted bow pleats that overlap for a snug fit. Top is basic. Another junior is a floral cotton stripe in daron and cotton with royal blue belt, shirtwaist collar and $12.95 price tag.

News Of The THEATRES

LIFE AND ART
By Pirandello. The Princeton Players took a leap into the realm of Luigi Pirandello this week with "Twilight Wept," an extension of his theme of life vs. art found in the earlier "Six Characters In Search of an Author." The latter play more or less comes to grips with the problem, whereas the current offering mostly skirts the issue with too much artificiality.

The Players have again mounted an interesting production, but the quality of the acting is uneven. George Nestor plays the director, Dr. Hinkins, with a tedious flat aspect. Don Marlati, as Rocco Verri, confuses the interpretation of his two roles, and perhaps in an excess of Pirandellian passion, overplays in his scene with his wife.

Louisa Stein does infinitely better by Mommina and her description of a production of "Il Trovatore" in the final scene is superb. Virginia de Angelis is somewhat inadequate as Signora Ignazia and inadequate as the leading lady.

André Alexandris has not mastered the difficulties of his two roles in the first scene.

and real difficulties they face. The contrasts that Pirandello intended to convey as the actors emerge from the bonds of theatrical convention to improvisatory freedom in portraying life just do not jell.

Those taking the minor roles do little to create the necessary backdrop for the major theses, and the sum of the play is a handful of fragments. Pirandello fans who see the play whose final performance is Saturday, should be prepared to hear others laugh at the wrong moments.

CONCERT PLANNED

To End Summer Program. A concert of orchestra, band and string, brass and woodwind ensembles will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium. It will mark the end of a five-week summer program in the high school's music department.

The concert will be the eleventh in an annual series. The first session of the summer program will be Friday, July 27. Teachers who have participated in this year's program are Walter Horner, Sidney Kramer, Roger McKinney, Fred Zenone, Joan Schutt and Sylvan Friedman.

OPEN HOUSE TO BE HELD
To Show Artists' Work. Joseph and Gwyneth Brown Professor and Mrs. Joseph Brown will hold Open House this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Public Library.

Prof. Brown teaches both sculpture and boxing at Princeton University, and his wife is an artist and illustrator. As guests of the U.S. Department of State, they went to work and study four last year.

An exhibit of their work was held at the Woodrow Wilson Lodge and many of the figures and paintings showed the influence of Asia upon their work. Soon after the exhibit at the Public Library, they will return to Asia to visit schools, libraries, universities and cultural centers in five countries. The subjects they have chosen for presentation to boys and girls is "Faces Lost and Found." They will illustrate certain points concerning their work by drawing and sculpturing on the spot.

This is the first of a series of Open Houses to be held at the Public Library as part of the "Asian Summer." The Asia Committee, made up of boys and girls, will serve as hosts and hostesses.

Children are welcome and adults are invited if accompanied by a child. Admission is free.

SOPRANO ON FACULTY

Mrs. Harsanyi Named. Mrs. Janice Harsanyi of 111 Laurel Road will join the voice faculty of Westminster Choir College this fall. A soprano, she made her debut with the Philadelphia Orchestra and has sung with that group 17 times. Mrs. Harsanyi is a Westminster graduate and attended the Academy of Vocal Arts in Philadelphia. She has appeared as a soloist with the Symphony of the Air under Leopold Stokowski and the National Symphony under Howard Mitchell. She has appeared in recital and oratorio. Mrs. Harsanyi won the National Scholastic Association's Distinguished Award in Choral Composition in 1947. She recently recorded Ord's Carmina Burana with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

BUILDING IS STARTED

For First Aid Unit. Ground has been broken by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad for its new building at Clearview and Harrison Streets.

A feature of the building is the flattened angularity of the plan with walls roughly paralleling the streets. According to the architect, George E. Lewis of 41 Fisher Avenue, the use of the odd angle was suggested by similar instances in true colonial design, and is used to stiffen the building structurally.

Most of the materials have been selected for their appearance uncovered, or have been used as part of the design instead of covering up those that are doing the work. For example, the structural walls are textured and insulate the building; the edge of the roof framing is used as a cornice and the roof beams become strong decorative features inside and are used as light troughs in the meeting room. Consisting of two wings, there is an entrance giving access to both sections and the basement. One wing provides space for two ambulances, a rescue wagon and a boat trailer. The other wing contains a meeting room, and an adjacent kitchen. In the basement there is a recreation room, a bank room for men on night duty, a heater room and a large storage room. Included in special equipment are radio and telephone systems and emergency lighting.

FREE LENDING LIBRARY

Founded in 1939, the squad is manned by trained volunteers and supported entirely by voluntary contributions. Its two ambulances, rescue wagon and boat have been housed in a portion of the Chestnut Street Firehouse, where inside space has hampered full development of the squad. The building, scheduled to be completed by the first of the year, will be the work of Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, Inc.

Present at the ground-breaking were First Aid and Rescue officers G. DeWitt Boice, president; Albert T. Treasurer; Raymond Rodweller, first lieutenant; William Parke, second lieutenant; and William Rodweller, head driver. Also present were Mr. Lewis and Malcolm Roszel, the latter representing Bowers.

NEW HOURS SCHEDULED

At Dutch Neck Township Hall. For two weeks, July 23 to August 4, the West Windsor Township Hall in Dutch Neck will be open only from 9 to 12 noon. Police calls during that period should be directed to the home of Constable Wesley Holman, SWinburne 9-1296.

TWO LOSE LICENSES

In Traffic Court. Gordon L. Cupples, 20, 25 Bank Street, and Edward Sussick, 37, 12 Craven Lane, Lawrenceville, had their licenses revoked in traffic court Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr.

Mr. Cupples lost his license for 30 days and was fined $15 for taking on a passenger in an improper manner. Mr. Sussick was fined $20 and lost his driving privileges for 60 days for careless driving. Both pleaded guilty.

Edward McEwen, 37, 141 John Street, was fined $21 for speeding. For driving without lights, Goldman Kidd, 27, 76 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, was fined $25 while John L. Armonia, 19, 54 Harris Road, was fined $15 for operating a car with no low headlight beams.

Sam R. Decavalcante, 50, 1015 Princeton Pike, was fined $25 after pleading guilty to an unregistered vehicle charge. Robert S. McCalley Jr., Carl Road, was fined $15 for a late inspection offense.

In Township Court. Magistrate James S. Hill fined Joseph F. Vaccarino, 20, Grand View Avenue, Hopewell, $20 and revoked his license for 30 days for failing to yield the right of way.

Fines of $15 were levied against Frank J. Sannino, 16

DOES IT MATTER where a municipal employee lives? "No," says Mark Kleinman (right); "Yes," replies Hy Litwen. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you agree with Trenton's Mayor Holland who says that a municipal employee should also have to be a resident of the community he works for?

Where asked: Palmer Square

Joseph L. Bolster, 124 Parkside Avenue, education administrator: I think it is a good idea to try to select someone from the community if they are well-qualified, that certainly should be the first area of consideration. But I think if someone is better qualified from another area, that should not preclude his being considered and employed. A lot would depend, too, on the position.

Hy Litwen, Lakewood, parts manager: I think that anybody that is going to work for a municipality should be a resident of the community. I think people living in the community should, at least, be given the first opportunity to work for the community. However, I also feel a person's qualifications should enter into it in some degree, whether he is a member of the community or not.

Mrs. Schubert M. Christian, 15 Hawthorne Avenue, housewife: I don't think it should be necessary. He has a good point in that a resident might have the town's welfare more at heart. But Princeton, for example, is a very expensive place to live and someone might not be able to afford this where they could a nearby community. They shouldn't be penalized if they can find better or cheaper living conditions outside the community they work for.

John W. Zarker, 69 Alexander Street, assistant professor, Latin and Greek, Dartmouth College: Yes, I do, very strongly. He has something invested in the problem close at hand. He has a vested interest in the job. He's actually helping to pay himself through the taxes he pays. If he doesn't choose to live in the place that is paying his salary, then there's something wrong.

Andrew Young, Penns Grove, retired general superintendent for duPont: I don't agree with that at all. This is America. A fellow's got the right to live where he wants to, where it is most economical for him or where he has friends. The mayor has no right whatsoever to dictate where a person should live. This is a free country. We've got liberties and he is restricting those liberties.

shouldn't matter where he lives.

Mrs. Marian Hookridge, Schoenetsky, N. Y. French teacher: In principle, I feel the nearer we keep the local government in the hands of the people that live there, the better. I feel too much centralization also leads to too little interest in the affairs of the community.

Austin Macauley, 188 N. Harrison Street, clerk, Thorne Pharmacy: I wouldn't think so, normally, but in some instances, such as a fireman for example, who would have to be familiar with the town to perform his duty well, it would be advisable. I feel he must have a good reason for wanting this. And in a way I suppose it's true that a person would have a better idea of his job if he lived right in the community.

Ernie Hunt, 90 Westcott Road, machinist: No, why should they? I don't feel people should be told by their employer where they have to live.

BUSINESS In Princeton

GENERALLY HEALTHY
State of Business Here: The quarter which saw a long slide in stock market prices, climaxed by the sharpest break in three decades, has not immediately been reflected in a downward trend in the Princeton business index. The upward movement which traditionally sets in with the arrival of spring is indicated by the frequent use of plus signs in the index over the winter quarter, which ended March 31.

There are, however, indications that not all is well with the community's economy. Comparison is made in several sections of the index to the first six months of 1961.

For example, parking meter receipts are 11 percent lower for the first six months of this year than they were as of June 30, 1961. The value of building permits issued in Princeton Township, where the bulk of the residential activity in this area occurs, is 38 percent lower than last year.

Down, too, is a figure given much support nationally as a barometer of economic welfare. New car sales are ten percent below those quoted last July in TOWN TOPICS' Index.

Which Way? These are the only significant signs pointing downward, and it is too early to tell whether they will gain momentum during the summer of 1962, or will encounter consumer support. In the April index, for example, every major trend was one on which "conservative optimism" might be based.

On the plus side, savings accounts in Princeton's four financial institutions are up 11 percent over a year ago; loans, which keep money in circulation, are up 12 percent; and both figures show slight gains over the first quarter in 1961. Postal receipts, while down from the winter quarter, are eight percent greater than they were 12 months ago.

New housing starts in the Township are in a healthy state when contrasted to 1961—up 36 percent. However, the value of construction in the Borough—showing immense gains of 109 percent in the last year and 250 percent in the last quarter—is not the important signpost it might be. Virtually all the dollar value is reflected in a few unusually large projects undertaken by Princeton University.

Just two of these—the addition to the Graduate College and the expanded School of Architecture on the campus—total $2,725,000 between them, while the new School of Music accounts for another $500,000.

The Business Index was devised by TOWN TOPICS as a means of reflecting accurately trends within the community's economy on a quarterly basis. It is now in its third year of publication.

GRIGGS GETS COURT OK
To Build Gas Station. In a decision handed down last week, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has upheld a lower court decision, permitting Burnett Griggs to build a gas station at the corner of Witherspoon and Hul-fish Streets. The court's ruling ended 18 months' legal tug-of-war between the restaurateur and the Borough Zoning Board.

Previously, Superior Court Judge Ralph J. Fusco had ordered the Zoning Board to issue a building permit to Mr. Griggs. Judge Fusco had ruled that the Board's action in refusing a permit was "arbitrary and unreasonable." The Zoning Board had maintained that a "dangerous situation" would be created by the erection of the station.

Judge Fusco said that the Board was unable to offer proof of any dangerous situation nor could he find any evidence that one would be created. The Appellate's decision in support of Judge Fusco's ruling was unanimous. David Diehl, Mr. Griggs' attorney, said he felt no further appeal could be made by the Board because it does not appear that the case involves any constitutional question.

The dispute originated in October 1960 when Mr. Griggs proposed to tear down his restaurant at 58 Witherspoon Street and construct a gas station in its place. The battle was joined when the Zoning Board refused to issue a "special exception" under the zoning laws to Mr. Griggs to build.

SALE-LEASE COMPLETED
Of Palmer Motor Inn. The 100-unit Palmer Motor Inn on Route 1 has been sold to Palmer Associates of which Justin Piscopo is a partner, and then leased back, in turn, to Palmer Motor Inn, Inc., of which Mr. Piscopo is president. The sale was reported by Brenner & Lewis Company, New York brokers.

Completed in May, the hotel adjoins a new motion picture theatre and bowling alley. In addition to the 100 units, it has a restaurant and bar which can accommodate some 250 persons.

The asking price was approximately $1 million. The lease, also negotiated by Brenner and Lewis, will total in excess of $3 million. Management of the property will remain under Mr. Piscopo since he is president of the leasing corporation.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK-I This is the second of a series of four articles on Princeton football prospects for 1962.)

Sophomores Above Average. On a chill, extremely windy Saturday last November, Princeton's unbeaten freshman eleven waited for the coin toss that would determine the choice of goals in its game with the Yale Class of 1965. The Eli captain called correctly, chose a 40-mile-an-hour gale at his back and guided his team into a first-period advantage over the Tiger cubs that meant an eventual 20-6 victory.

It is entirely conceivable, of course, that the outcome might have been the same without the wind, but the cubs were so strong and so steady that the team heading into them could not pass with any accuracy and punts rarely netted ten yards. The effect was to create a degree of adversity for Princeton's high-riding freshmen that was completely new to them, as was eventual defeat. The Blue pushed over two quick touchdowns, disorganization set in among the Princeton contingent and it could not retaliate when it finally got the advantage of the wind.

The loss probably will have beneficial effects on Princeton's upcoming sophomores, who will have enough problems converting to the varsity level without being weighted down with fat heads. Earlier in the season, the Class of '65 had whipped its counterparts at five other colleges in the regular season, the Class of '65 had whipped its counterparts at five other colleges in the regular season, the Class of '65 had whipped its counterparts at five other colleges in the regular season.

It was, even in the face of a mild demoralization against Yale, a distinctly impressive squad, was big among the top prospects are a 6-3, 200-lb. end; a 5-11, 205-lb. guard; a 6-1, 215-lb. tackle; and it was deep. Coach Pep McCarthy could substitute a complete second team that often held its own with the regulars. Best of all, the Class of '65 had an obvious love for playing football and an attitude toward the grueling sport that is essential through a drawn-out, 13-week season composed alternately of searing heat, ankle deep mud, occasional snow and myriad bangs, bruises, muscle pulls and more serious injuries.

ALMOST AS QUICKLY as you can say "Cosmo Iacavazzi" and "Ernie Pascarella," these two sophomores will become a part of Princeton's 1962 football picture. Cos (42) is captain and fullback of the strong freshman team last fall. The 215-lb. Pascarella looms as a top tackle prospect.

Time to Build. Fortunately from point of view of Princeton's 1962 prospects, this highly promising claim will not have to be brought along too quickly. As reported here last week, the Tigers' losses by graduation are extremely few, and the risky experiment of filling several key positions with first-year players need not be tried.

Yale's Jordan Oliver has said, "For every sophomore you start, you are likely to lose a game." It's an apt method of measuring a team so short of experienced material that it must use five sophomores as regulars would quite likely have difficulty in topping a 4-5 mark for the season.

By positions, these are the 14 sophomores whose development will bear watching, based on estimates by the coaching staff of their potential.

Ends: One of the two positions where graduation losses will be felt has a minimum of three good sophomores who are expected to add depth to the squad. A top prospect is Jim Battecher, 6-1-180, who ranks as a good pass receiver and solid two-way player. His brother, Gordon, was an all-ivy tackle for Princeton in 1959.

Kil Lawrence, the ranking longside end last fall, may develop into a defensive stand-out and will contribute a 6-3, 200-lb. frame to the cause both sophomores have said two-way potential.

The name that caused most comment last fall, partially because of the name itself, was Cosmo Iacavazzi. Had he been called Joe Smith, he would, however, have had his name mentioned as often, because Cos played a lot of fullback—averaging a touchdown a game.

Extremely rugged at 5-11 and 190, he is a fine line-buster and an experienced defensive player. It could be that he will become the only member of his class to earn a starting berth at Blairstown. His replacement on the freshman eleven was Roy Pizzarello (5-8, 175) who will add to the Tigers' depth at fullback this fall.

Missing from the picture in the evaluation of the sophomores are center and quarters backs, where the Class of '65 did not quite measure up to a year ago. On an overall basis,

Pete Ritzer, about the same build, should see action as a reserve end and may become a "wild card" as the team's chief punter.

Tackles: Put down the name of Ernie Pascarella as one that will be heard with increasing frequency. A 215-lb. operative, he has the mobility that many a big man lacks, and should fit firmly into the Princeton picture this fall. Wendell Cady, who paired with Pascarella as the other tackle slot in 1961, likewise will have his 210 pounds in considerable evidence.

Guards: Ron Bonomo (5-10, 180) is with Pascarella, the other standout prospect among the sophomore linemen. Relatively small, extremely sturdy and very fast, he has all the makings of the "running guard" who pulls out of the line to provide scotch-like interference for the devastating tailback sweep. Ned Porter (6-1, 195), an alumnae of the football factory at Marion, Ohio, ranks just behind Bonomo, while solid physical stature (5-11, 205) is provided on the other side of the line by Don Pett.

Backs: Six sophomores of above-average ability will supplement the varsity holdovers—two wingbacks, two tailbacks, two fullbacks. Doug Tufts, like Captain Dan Terpack in that he weighs only 165, was last fall's freshman starter and is likely to rank behind Terpack and Jim Rothenbach. Tony Krausen, also no more than 165, is figured for occasional duty in a well-staffed position.

Don McKay and Johnny O'Brien are both promising triple-threat tailbacks but if the varsity trio of Greg Riley, Hugh MacMillan and Pete Porietti remain injury-free, they'll spend a fair amount of time on the bench. If an emergency develops, however,

CHAMPION REPEATS
In Men's Singles, A straight set victory was recorded by Fritz Dumpel over Sandy Swartz in the Men's Tennis Singles Tournament Saturday, the winner thereby retaining the title he won a year ago. Both sets went into extra games, Dumpel prevailing by 7-5 and 9-7.

On his way to the finals, the victor eliminated Everett Wood, 7-5, 6-1, in the quarter-final round and John Gloucevitch, 6-2, 6-1, in the semi-final. Swartz topped David Schaeffer, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in a hotly-contested match before taking two love sets from David Katz.

Edgar Levy also reached the quarter-finals, losing to Gloucevitch, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, while Bayard Jon lost to Katz in the same round, 6-1, 6-2. There were 33 contestants in the tournament.

Mixed Doubles play started this week with the final event of the 1962 season, the Men's Doubles, scheduled to start Monday. Entries may be made through Friday at the County Courts, or until noon Saturday at the YMCA.

TULLY WINS AGAIN
In Tennis Tournament, Shawn Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Tully of 17 Dempsey Avenue, won the Connecticut State junior championship tennis tournament in the 18-and-under division, in which he was seeded third.

He defeated his opponent in the finals, 6-0, 6-2. Earlier this summer, Shawn won the singles title in the Nassau-Suffolk Junior Championships and also Princeton's 15-and-under championship.

EMR MOVES UP
With Close Win over RCA, a six-run rally in the third inning which overbalanced a five-run outburst by RCA in the top of that frame gave Electro-Mechanical Research a 10-8 triumph last week in the Business Softball League. The victory brought with it a share in third place with Gulton Ortholog, a move of two rungs up the ladder for EMR in the tightly-bunched standings.

Paul Crea was the winning pitcher in the high-scoring affair, with Ralph Smoo absorbing the loss. Rich Loftant, Frank Osborne and Jack Gallagher collected ten hits among them for EMR. Infant and Gallagher contributing homers. Dave Richman's three for four featuring a home run, paced RCA.

ETS added to its lead by defeating Gulton Ortholog han-

July 12-64, while second-place Engineering Research was taking a 13-3 drubbing from Industrial Reactor. Jack Dilworth won his eighth and boosted the defending champions to 9-1 for the season as Bill Debocky hammered out two homers for ETS. Tom Curran hit one for the distance for Gulton.

Joe Williams had a five-for-five evening as Industrial Reactor caught up with the 300 mark in a 13-3 lacing of Electro-Mechanical Research. The Bowers collected five hits and three runs in the first but Steve Voris settled down hereafter, blanking EMR the rest of the way. Meanwhile, Industrial Reactor scored in all of the last five innings, totaling 21 hits for its top offensive performance of the season.

In the fourth contest of the week, Opinion Research racked up its first victory of the season with a decisive 12-4 rout of Columbian Carbon. Lorin Zissman was the winning pitcher.

Frank Cox and Joe Castora hit for the circuit in ORC's hour of glory, while John Bartolino came up with three for four on behalf of Columbian. As August nears, all but these two entries have a good shot at the four playoff berths.

The standings:

WILDCATS, BOMBERS WIN
In Summer Basketball, The Wildcats and the Bombers were winners last Wednesday evening in the first games played in the four-team Summer Basketball League. The teams battle each other every Wednesday at the Harrison Street court, starting at 6:15.

In Wednesday's first contest, the Wildcats and their opponents, the Jets, were both off their shooting, the half ending at 17-17. During the second half, neither team was able to lead the other by more than two points until the final four minutes of play when the Wildcats spurred ahead with four quick baskets and went on to win, 47 to 35. High scorer for the victors was Tony Bocanuso with 16. Bert Carr had 14 for the Jets.

The second contest was never in doubt. The Bombers built up an 18-point half-time margin and went on to win easily, 82-37. The winners displayed a well-balanced scorist attack with Tom Jones hitting for 18 points, Ray Cevera, 17, and Bob Granecic, 16.

Certainly its white-washed brick exterior and stunning decor would make it a knockout anywhere. Living room and library both have fireplaces and open to Ragstone Terrace. Formal dining room, pantry, kitchen, and powder room. Five bedrooms and three baths on second floor, bedroom, sitting room, and bath on third. Lovely gardens, en-tout-cas tennis court and covered spectators' pavilion. A unique home in a distinguished location. $125,000

ABSOLUTE PERFECTION is the only word to describe a house of this kind. The wide covered front porch leads to a flagged foyer and gracious reception hall with colonial staircase. Living room with fireplace framed by a gleaming paneled wall. Dining room. Equipped kitchen has plenty of eating space. Laundry, powder room, and family room with sliding glass doors to fenced terrace. Upstairs, three bedrooms, one of which has a wall of handsome bookcases and two full baths. Sun deck, nearly new wall to wall carpeting, and professional landscaping. You won't have to lift a finger to this one—it's in immaculate condition. Move right in at $45,500.

THE PRESTIGE AND CONVENIENCE of its Riverside location, make this four bedroom home well worth the consideration of the discriminating buyer. Separate living rooms for children and adults, dining room, four bedrooms, one bath, and two well-placed lavatories. Basement, two-car garage, and wood room. Heavily painted lot. $37,000

THE ELUSIVE OLDER HOUSE - A two-story colonial in an excellent Township location just over the Borough line. Entrance hall with adjoining powder room, 24 foot living room with fireplace, separate dining room, and big kitchen. Four bedrooms, corner bedrooms and bath. Attic, basement, detached two-car garage. Smallish lot with big trees. Hold on to your hat, it's only $29,500. We never have many like this, so it won't be around for long!

Opening today

in Lawrence Township

—amid towering oaks and pines, majestic hickories and flowering white dogwoods
Hundreds of trees... and just 33 homes!

For over 35 years this land was a famous nursery. The soil is rich, the trees super-abundant, the terrain gently rolling, the elevation one of the highest in the state. And such wonderful neighbors! The towns of Princeton and Trenton within five minutes. The beautiful Green Acres golf course in the backyard. A new elementary school on the grounds. Fine, uncrowded schools for all grades within minutes.

One mile to the newly completed Lawrenceville Shopping Center. Its convenience is perfect! Its beauty a bonus! Come out today. You'll stay! When a famous Princeton custom-builder comes to Lawrence... you're getting the same superior craftsmanship that has gone into $50,000 custom homes... top grade materials, luxurious appointments, and the long experience and integrity of the builder.

Traditional styling... and a host of features usually found only in custom-built homes.

"The Amherst" - Split Level - 8-foot sliding glass picture doors give access to the huge outdoor patio from the family room. 8 Rooms • 2 1/2 Baths • Stately 5-columned covered Portico • Custom Kitchen with large windowed breakfast area • Basement • Side-entry garage • 1/2 acre with trees.
$24,500

"The Bowdoin" - Two-Story Colonial - A huge wood-burning fireplace in the 17'6" x 12' family room is just one of many outstanding features. 8 Rooms • 4 Bedrooms • 2 1/2 Baths • Brick Front • Central Hall Foyer • Custom Kitchen with breakfast area • Separate Laundry Room • Basement • 1/2 acre with trees.

What's Behind That Cedar Shingle?

Answer: Another Cedar Shingle.

Yes, at PRINCETON RIDGE all exterior shingle siding is "double course." This truly hidden benefit goes with every house we build. A truly obvious benefit at PRINCETON RIDGE is the 2170 square feet of living space (not including the basement or 2-car garage) for less than $30,000 on an acre of ground.

Take a ride out to Rocky Hill — via Route 206 from Bayard Lane or Harrison St. — and find that under course of shingle. We will be glad to show you how any day of the week or week-end.

Outstanding Career
Opportunity with guaranteed beginning income and constantly increasing earnings after learning the business. Unusual training facilities with one of America's oldest and largest financial institutions. This is not a "job" offer, but a career opportunity with a leading U.S. company, having the greatest potential market ever experienced in over a century of operation.

Capibilities will be fairly tested, and applicants must have had solid and successful, previous business experience, and a college graduate is preferred. An excellent opportunity for the right man who wants to be in business for himself where he can set his own income requirements and meet them. Furnish address and telephone number when applying for an interview. All communications will be treated in confidence. Reply Box B-42, Town Topics.

OFFICE SPACE WANTED
We wish to lease approximately 8,000 square feet of modern, attractive office space. Lease to begin shortly after the first of the year. The building should be air-conditioned and have parking for 75 cars.
